SHIELDS PARK TO UNDERGO CHANGE

Preliminary Plans Provide for Complete Transformation into a Spot of Rare Beauty.

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT HERE

Proposal that Large Pavilion be Erected on the Grounds is to Receive Consideration.

Plans for beautifying Shields Park under the supervision of the city council's and citizens' committees are rapidly taking form and it is expected that a definite program will be adopted within the next few days. The committees are decided that whatever work is ordered shall be done in accordance with a permanent outline so that in a few years the approved system can be carried out in detail. By doing the work systematically there will be no needless expenditures and each year such work can be ordered as the funds will permit.

G. M. McDougall, representing the McDougall Landscape Architects, of Indianapolis, was in the city Monday and in company with several members of the citizens' committee went over the grounds. Upon entering the park he expressed much surprise at the beautiful natural conditions. He said that the contour of the grounds could not have been improved if the park had been artificial and declared that with a little labor it could be made one of the most beautiful spots in Indiana. It was the first time he had ever seen the park and he was enthusiastic over the possibilities of developing it.

The committee is considering the employment of McDougall to devise the permanent plans for the beautification of the grounds. If a contract is entered into with him he will return to the city as soon as possible and draw a plan of the grounds and from that will work out the improvements, including driveways, hedges and while all the work he suggests could not be carried out this year improvements could be made annually.

It has been suggested that the various churches, societies and clubs in the city be given the privilege of setting out and keeping in condition one flower bed at the park. The plans will provide for several flower beds and if a society was charged with keeping each in condition the park committee would be assured that the work would be done well and promptly.

The preliminary task of cutting down the trees which were set out for temporary purposes until the maples matured, and the blasting of the stumps has been about completed. The stumps were removed by John Manuel several days ago and the holes in the ground are being filled up and the surface leveled. It is the hope of the committees to have as much of this work out of the way as possible before the permanent plans are undertaken. While the details of the improvements have not been definitely decided it is known that they will be more extensive than ever before and that the grounds will be in the best condition in the history of the city. The two stone gateways are to be erected this summer and it is announced that they will be very attractive and will lend much to the general improved appearance of the grounds.

It has been proposed from time to time that a permanent pavilion be constructed on the grounds and a meeting of citizens will probably be held this week to discuss this matter. It is proposed that a building be erected there that will be adequate to accommodate at least three thousand people. Inquiry has resulted in the information that a steel building can be erected and that it can be built in such a manner so that it could be enclosed if necessary. It is pointed out that if such a building were erected it could be used as an inducement in getting large conventions and other gatherings here as it would be the only structure of its kind in this part of the state. If it should be enclosed it could be used during the winter months as well as during the summer time.

Various methods have been proposed to raise the funds for such a building. It is known that a number of residents have indicated a willingness to make handsome contributions to the fund to be used for this purpose and their offer has given rise to the suggestion that the entire amount could be subscribed within a short time. Such a structure would be a valuable asset to the city. Some of the park fund could be used for the purpose from year to year but as this total amount does not exceed $700 annually the major portion of the amount would have to be collected in some other method. The chautauqua association would probably be willing to assist as such a pavilion would save that organization the rental that is paid for a tent each year.

MRS. JOSEPHINE SHUTTS VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE

Widow of the Late G. M. Shutts Fatally Stricken at the Home of Her Daughter, Mrs. Lois Myers.

Just after entering the house after conversing with Mrs. Thomas Brooks, a neighbor, Mrs. Josephine Shutts, widow of the late G. M. Shutts, was fatally stricken with heart trouble about 9:30 this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lois Myers, East Fifth street. The body was found by Mrs. Myers a few minutes later when she entered the room. Apparently it was lifeless and death must have occurred instantly. Her late husband died March 17, just one month ago. This is the third death that has occurred in the family of Mrs. Myers during the last thirty days. Besides her parents she has also lost her husband, Grover Myers, who was killed near Cochran April 6 when he slipped and fell from a box car. He was a conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

Mrs. Shutts had apparently been in better health during the last few weeks than for several years. Her family, however, believes that she was exerting a special effort to conceal her deep grief and sorrow resulting from the recent bereavements and that the strain probably hastened her death. For many years she had not enjoyed perfect health, having suffered occasionally from rheumatic attacks. It is likely that the rheumatism may have settled in the region of her heart, causing her death. Josephine Hendricks was born in Harrison county, October 31, 1863, making her exact age fifty-two years, five months and seventeen days. She lived in Harrison county until her marriage to Elder G. M. Shutts which took place November 31, 1884 at Evan's Landing, in her native county. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Shutts lived in Brownstown until 1904 when they removed to Seymour. Mrs. Shutts is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lottie Goble, of Rockford, Mrs. Myers, of this city, and one son, Lorenzo, also of Seymour. A granddaughter, Luella, has made her home with her since early girlhood. The deceased also leaves four grandchildren, three brothers, Lide, George and Napoleon Hendricks, of Louisville, and two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Duggins, and Mrs. Belle Case, of Louisville.

Mrs. Shutts was a life long member of the Christian church and was affiliated with the local congregation. Her life was devoted to her home and her friends. She lived within the circle of a quiet and contented calm with the knowledge that she was following the dictates of her own conscience and guided by the precepts of the Bible and christianity. The arrangements for the funeral had not been completed late today.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAM PREPARING FOR MEET

Runners Taking Final Workout Before Contest With Bedford Saturday.

The local high school is preparing for its first track meet which is to be held next Saturday with Bedford. The local runners have been training for some time although it was not until this week that Coach Hendershot began to put the watch on his men. They are making very creditable time and the students feel that their representatives will do justice to the school in the coming meet.

DIXON BODY FOUND TAKEN FROM RIVER

Ft. Ritner Man Missing Since March 21 Drowned Under Railroad Bridge Near Medora.

IDENTIFIED BY HIS CLOTHING

Last Seen in Medora When He Started to Walk Home—Was in Seymour on March 20.

The body of Clark Dixon, fifty-five years, the Ft. Ritner man who has been missing since March 21, was found in White River two hundred yards below the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge near Medora late Monday afternoon by Bruce Trowbridge, a fisherman. The body was so badly decomposed that the facial features could not be recognized but identification was possible by means of the clothes. Dixon wore two pairs of overshoes, a pair of half arctics over which was another pair of top arctics.

The body was located on the east bank of the river where it had lodged in a willow tree overhanging the water. Trowbridge saw the hand stick out of the water. He knew that Dixon was missing and was supposed to have been drowned and immediately went to Medora where he notified a number of people. A party was organized and the body was brought to Medora about dark Monday night.

Dixon was last seen March 21 in company with his cousin, Jerome Dixon, at Medora. He had started to walk to his home in Ft. Ritner and it is believed that he fell through the railroad bridge when he started to walk across it. He had been in Seymour on March 20 or 21 and from here went to Brownstown. On March 21 he went to Vallonia and then to Medora. He had been drinking, it is reported, and was under the influence of liquor when he started to walk home from Medora. He was engaged as a farmer near Ft. Ritner and had spent all of his life in Carr township.

The deceased leaves no children. Mrs. Dixon died about a year ago. He is survived by two brothers, Virgil, of Sparksville, and Sant, of Mitchell, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Mullen, of Sparksville, and Miss Emma Dixon, of Ft. Ritner.

FORGERY CHARGE AGAINST R. L. MOSELEY DISMISSED

Alleged to Have Drawn on Empty Account at Local Bank—Settlement Later Made.

The following is from the Columbus Republican:

The affidavit against Robert L. Moseley, charging that he had forged a check on Ed. Williams, of this city, has been dismissed in the City Court on recommendation of Attorney C. B. Copper, acting prosecutor. The affidavit charged that Moseley issued the check for $5 on the Jackson County Loan & Trust Company on March 9. Mr. Williams accepted it at the time, but it was later returned here with the statement that Moseley had no funds in the bank.

This morning it was stated that Moseley had been located in Franklin and Chief Hoffman went to that place to take charge of him as well as to attend to some other matters. Later it was stated that he had made arrangements for repayment of the $5 to Mr. Williams which was the consideration for dismissal. The Capitol Loan Company, of this city, recently filed an attachment proceeding against Moseley and his household goods are now in custody of Constable John L. Jones who will sell them. Moseley conducted a loan business while in this city.

CONTRACT READY FOR BRICK LAYERS

Construction of Concrete Slab Under Postoffice Building Foundation is Completed.

1,260 SACKS OF CEMENT USED

Bedford, Mitchell, Speeds and Other Indiana Cities as Well as Seymour Profit From Building.

Bricklayers have been informed that they are expected to begin work on the new postoffice building, corner Third and Chestnut streets, tomorrow, as the construction of the concrete slab under the foundation was completed shortly after noon today. The block of concrete was necessary because of the presence of quicksand on the site and was ordered by the supervising architects after the reports were filed in Washington. The construction of the concrete slab delayed the original plans but now that that part of the work is out of the way the foundation will be started at once and will be pushed with all rapidity. The concrete slab covers all the ground space to be occupied by the building.

That Uncle Sam is particular about the manner in which his postoffice and other buildings are constructed is shown by the method adopted in the local contract. At the edge of the concrete slab a brick wall four inches thick will be built to the level of the lot line. Inside of this wall and on the top of the slab will be placed five layers of water proof felt. Before each layer is placed in position it will be treated with hot pitch. When the outside wall is completed and the felt has been laid the building will take the appearance of a water tight box.

But then the real work is just to begin. Just inside of the first wall will be the foundation wall, twenty-one inches thick. After the second wall is constructed the structural iron work will be started and soon the building will take form. The first or outside wall will be independent of the building and the top will be covered with earth. Just on the outside of it, however, a trench will be dug and at the bottom of it will be the drainage tiles. The trench will be filled with crushed rock to afford property drainage from the surface into the subsoil. When the drain is first laid on the outside of the building it will be covered with several inches of hay. This is allowed for the natural settling of the rock. It is explained that by the time the hay had rotted the rock will be permanently settled and there will be no need of again filling up the trench after the surface has been leveled.

The casual observer of the work does not appreciate the amount of material that is being used. W. C. Staver, superintendent of the contract, said that thus far a total of 1,260 sacks of cement had been used in constructing the concrete slab. Another large shipment is to be made soon for the brick work.

Cities in this section of the state are benefited by the new postoffice building here. For instance the cement comes from the Speeds, Ind., Mills. Bedford will profit as all the cut stone comes from the quarries there. One car from the John A. Rowe Quarries is already on the tracks in this city awaiting transfer to the postoffice site. The Mitchell cement mills have been called upon to furnish six carloads of crushed stone of forty-five tons each. More of this material will be needed before the building is completed.

The contract for the plastering has been given to Bakers Brothers, Birmingham, Ala., and includes both the plain and ornamental plastering. 35,000 bricks will be used in the building and these will come from Montezuma. The window frames and some of the other wood work will be made in Louisville, a firm there having secured the contract on the lowest bid. Besides the supplies and materials that will be purchased out of town thousands of dollars of materials will be bought of local dealers. Each day new tools and incidental supplies are needed and are bought without receiving bids.

Mr. Staver said that his company alone will pay between $350 and $400 in wages each week. The total wages

DISPATCH OF NOTE IS AGAIN DELAYED

Transmission of Communication to Germany on Submarine Issue Read by Cabinet.

By United Press.

Washington, April 18—Possibility of delay in the dispatch of the president's latest and perhaps last communication to the German government appeared this afternoon following the cabinet meeting at which it was read.

The result was speculative ranging from what Ambassador Bernstorff may be ready to divulge at a meeting he arranged with Secretary Lansing for late this afternoon to important word from Ambassador Gerard in Berlin.

Before Bernstorff and Secretary Lansing met in conference this afternoon it was officially stated that any conversation could not alter the situation.

There are still some "undetermined elements" in the submarine case, one high official said. Indications strongly pointed to some hitch probably in a minor matter in plans to send the note immediately.

The president has thus far not requested a conference with Chairman Stone and Chairman Flood of the senate and house foreign affairs committee, and none is in sight. Yesterday afternoon the President was ready for this conference but it could not be arranged satisfactorily and today it was said he was not yet ready to see the congressional leaders. No light on what the "undetermined elements" were was obtainable.

FIVE PASSENGERS KILLED IN WRECK ON NEW HAVEN

Thirty-one Others Injured in Collision at Bradford Station, R. I., Last Night.

By United Press.

New Haven, Conn., April 18.—At least five persons were killed, some of them burned beyond recognition and thirty-one persons were injured in the collision between the Gilt Edge Express of the New Haven road and a local train at Bradford Station, six miles east of Westerly, R. I., last night.

The Gilt Edge of the New Haven was four minutes late and running fifty miles an hour through a light fog to make up time before it ran into and telescoped the accommodation train. This fact was made public in an official statement given out by New Haven officials this afternoon. The speed of the express at the time of the crash was said to have been reduced to fifteen miles an hour.

These revised figures were announced at the New Haven offices today. All the killed were passengers.

BODY OF YOUNG REDKEY GROCER FOUND IN FIELD

Roy Brown, 21, Disappeared January 29—Bullet Holes in Body.

By United Press.

Muncie, Ind., April 18.—The body of Roy Brown, twenty-one, Redkey grocer, who disappeared the night of January 29, was found by Earl Wise on his farm near Redkey this morning. The body had been knawed by mice beyond identification which was made by letters and a Modern Woodman ring. There were two bullet holes in the body. Murder is suspected, but there is no motive. A countrywide search has been made for Brown by his father, who is a wealthy Ridgeville farmer.

BELL DISCREDITS CHIHUAHUA STORY

In Message to General Funston He Says Rumor of Villa's Death Has Been Manufactured.

WORD FROM CONSUL LETCHER

American Army Officers Renew Search for Bandit Leader Along Present Line of Communication.

By United Press.

San Antonio, Tex., April 18.—On receipt on a dispatch from General Bell at El Paso, declaring that the report of Villa's death had evidently been manufactured in Juarez army officers directed a renewal of the search for the bandit leader today.

General Bell officially reported to Major General Funston that in his belief the story was a fabrication and originated at Juarez. A statement from Consul Letcher at Chihuahua further discredited the story asserting that dispatches from Cusi-huaichie made no mention of the body.

Early advices to headquarters told of a gathering of scattered American detachments near Satevo. Indications pointed to resumption of the bandit hunt on a scale limited to confirm to the present line of communication. This was believed to mean that Funston intended to make the best of the facilities at hand, meantime hoping to use the Mexican railroad for a new line for an American base near Presidio, Tex.

Funston was inclined to discredit the reported seizure of train load of supplies consigned to American forces via the Mexican Central line.

General Bell's dispatches failed to mention the incident. Funston said he would not investigate it without official notification.

WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM MEXICO IS LIKELY

Administration Considering Such a Wave Even Though Bandit Leader is not Captured.

By United Press.

Washington, April 18.—Withdrawal of American forces from Mexico is likely. Such action may be taken without accomplishing the original mandate—"get Villa;" but the step will not be taken until the war department orders to break up Villa's band are fulfilled or until Carranzistas are fully able to take up the chase.

The United Press learned to-day that while no change of policy has been determined the administration gives consideration of the suggestion that the troops be withdrawn without the capture of Villa. It is said indications are received that the end of the hunt is in sight.

This government feels that it already has accomplished an enormous task.

PROTECTION OF U. S. TROOPS IS MOST IMPORTANT NOW

General Pershing Said to Have Made Such a Report to General Funston To-day.

By United Press.

El Paso, April 18.—The Villa hunt to-day was a secondary matter. Protection of the United States troops in Mexico is now the main thing.

General Pershing is understood to-day to have reported to that effect to General Funston.

The question whether the body presumably taken into Chihuahua City is that of Villa is still considered important, but the safety of the American expedition following the fighting at Parral and the withdrawal request of Carranza are uppermost.

REPORT CONFIRMED

General Gavira Has News Concerning Villa's Death.

By United Press.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—Confirmation of the reported death of Villa was announced by General Gavira at Juarez to-day. Gavira stated he received a message of verification from General Enriquez, of Chihuahua.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP!

FELLOW CITIZENS: Let us get together and make this town of ours the most healthful and most inviting in the State. To do this we must organize our forces, map out our plans and get to work. Other cities and towns throughout the United States are finding the efforts along these lines are bringing excellent results.

If we would have a healthful town we must clear our attics, cellars, stables, sheds, yards, streets, alleys and vacant lots of trash, dirt, junk, filth, garbage, rags, cans, bottles and weeds. We must empty toilets, cover manure heaps, drain barn lots, fill up mudholes and slimy, ill-smelling ponds, open gutters, repair streets and burn rubbish.

Then we must use soap and scrub brushes, brooms, rakes and shovels. We must throw lime freely about toilets and stables. Why? Because disease germs and germ-carrying insects, especially flies and mosquitoes, breed in filth and spread typhoid and consumption when they enter our living rooms, alight on our food, or bite us while we sleep.

After the dirt is gone we must repair our buildings and fix our fences—and then lay on the paint! Paint everything that needs it, inside and out, for paint is the best known preservative and its brightening influence will make the dulllest town in the world look spick and span.

Of course when we buy paint and lime we put money into the paint-dealer's and lime-dealer's pockets. But if we get sick and die the doctor, druggist, undertaker, sexton and tombstone man take our coin. Most folks would sooner spend theirs on paint and lime—take your choice.

Come on, now, folks. Let's call a meeting, form a Clean Up and Paint Up Club composed of men, women and children, and get on the job! The prize is worth it—health and happiness.

Clean Up and Paint Up if You Desire Health

HAVE you joined the "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement? If not, get in line and march to the front ranks and be ready for duty. The royal battle of "Clean Up and Paint Up" will be fought all over the country. This movement has enlisted the aid of every one, young and old, the schools, the clubs, commercial organizations, municipalities and country communities.

One state wide campaign was started by the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, which led to the issuing of the proclamation to "clean up and paint up" by Governor Withycombe and was followed by the appointing of a committee from the Portland chamber of commerce.

This committee inaugurated a publicity campaign of stupendous work and met with successful co-operation on the part of ministers and physicians throughout the state. That it has received true co-operation from the physicians is evidenced by the responses.

One physician indorsed the movement as follows: "It is much more exhilarating and encouraging to see clean, well kept yards and lawns, clean streets and buildings than to see dirty lawns and neglected buildings. The first example is exhilarating; the second is depressing. In which state of mind do you do your best work?" Another physician said:

"Want to put the doctors out of business? With good water and a salubrious climate and an abundance of fresh food most of the doctors would be idle loafers. But I am with you just the same. I am having my house painted and lawn mowed, and when the painters get their stuff out I will flush out the garage."

Are you going to do the same? Take heed to the advice of the above physicians. It is vital that everything be made spick and span not only for showing off to the visitors that are coming to your town this summer, but for the sake of yourself, your family and surroundings.

"Clean Up and Paint Up!"

CLEAN COMMUNITIES HEALTHY

How Death Rates and Long Life Come From Such Towns.

Filth in itself cannot generate disease, but in the long run, barring unusual exceptions, low death rates and long life always come with records of clean communities.

The "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign is, after all, a housekeeping job, and for that reason every housekeeper should co-operate with the town officials in making the town spotless.

Nothing pleases one more than to have a visitor say what a beautiful town you live in. Why not make your town the cleanest in America? It's easily done. Have harmony reign and all work together and you will be surprised at the result. Now, let us all pull together for a spotless town!

Clean Up and Prevent Criticism

A TRAIN on which a well dressed St. Paul citizen was recently traveling stopped at a small town. From the car window could be seen a dozen or more back yards. Heaps of refuse were scattered over the weedy ground. Here and there a tin can glistened in the sun.

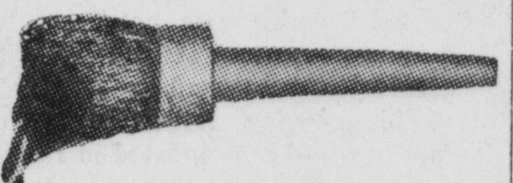

The houses were dull, uninteresting and in bad repair. A couple of listless men boarded the train and sank into their seats, apparently thankful to be leaving the place.

An hour later they approached another town. There was no dismal outlook there. The back yards were carpeted with close cropped grass and patterned with flower beds. Fresh painted white fences separated the lawns. Most of the houses had been recently painted.

"Is this the county seat?" the citizen asked the conductor.

"No; that last town is the county seat," was his answer, "but this place is going to be. That other town hasn't got enough self respect to fight the bill that will make the change. This town is a hummer. It deserves to win."

It's Easy to Clean Up With The EDEN Suction Cleaner

You are a careful housekeeper!

A clean house is your ideal!

But—is your house really clean?

Unless you use a good suction cleaner, it is utterly impossible for you to get the dust and dirt you can't see from the cracks between the boards of the floor—from radiators—from corners and edges of the base-board—from high ledges over windows and doors—and from countless other un-get-at-able places.

Unless this dust is gotten out from its hiding places, much of it works out—between cleaning days—and makes your house look as though it had not been cleaned.

You can get this dust—and all the other dust and dirt that you can see—quickly and easily with The EDEN Pressed Steel Suction Cleaner.

It is light—substantial—convenient—and thoroughly efficient; and it has many advantages over cleaners made of aluminum.

First: It will not "crack" or "rub off black" when run over rugs or draperies, thus soiling light colored floor coverings and fabrics.

Second: It is as smooth on the inside as on the outside—no place for dust or dirt to lodge, thus building up a resistance to the air current and lessening the efficiency of the cleaner.

Third: Aluminum is brittle, and sometimes breaks. The Eden is made of pressed steel, and is thus less liable to accidental breakdown.

PENNSYLVANIA TO STOP RIDING ON ALL FREIGHTS

Otha B. Downs, Evansville Man, Arrested Here But is Allowed to Go On His Way.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad this morning arrested a man who gave the name of Otha B. Downs who was alleged to be beating his way on the freight train that passes through this city about 3:45 o'clock. Downs said that he was a blacksmith and that he lived in Evansville. He said he was going there to work. His case was filed before Mayor Ross this morning and the defendant was allowed to go on the condition that he leave the city immediately.

The arrest of Downs marks the beginning of a crusade on the part of the Pennsylvania officials to stop the practice of riding on freight trains. The hobos have been following the custom of riding the trains and when they arrive at their desired destination they cut the air line and naturally the train stops and Mr. Hobo alights as though from his private train. It is this practice that the employees of the Company are determined to stop and they are instructed to arrest all who are found beating their way on the freights.

Cartoons Magazine.

In the pursuit of Villa the cartoonists have had something to inspire them. They have portrayed the arch bandit in more roles than even old Proteus assumed. They have made him a coyote, a rattlesnake, a mad dog, a gila monster, a flea, a jumping bean, a greased pig, a cactus and a rat. The cream of this work, with editorial comment from many sources, appears in the May number of Cartoons Magazine. Harry H. Dunn, the former editor of the Mexican newspaper, La Prensa, contributes the leading article entitled "Villa and the Mexican Ideal." The writer has known Villa since the latter was no more than a "baby bandit" and before he had conceived the notion of ruling Mexico or turning the country over to a foreign ruler.

Leedy, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, notifying the lodges of the eightieth semi-annual communication or meeting of the Indiana Grand Lodge and of the thirty-second annual session of the Rebekah Assembly which are to be held in Indianapolis May 15 to 18.

The Rebekah Assembly will be in session Monday, May 15, and Tuesday, May 16, and the meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held on Wednesday, May 17, and Thursday, May 18. The Rebekah Assembly will be opened by the state officers in the Grand Lodge Hall in the Odd Fellows Building at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and sessions will be held Tuesday morning and afternoon. A Rebekah degree exemplification will be held in Germania Hall Monday evening and a reception for assembly officers will be held in the assembly hall in the Odd Fellows Building Tuesday evening. The communication of the Grand Lodge will be opened in the Grand Lodge Hall at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Representatives of the assembly and the Grand Lodge meeting will visit the Odd Fellows' Home at Greensburg, Ind., Wednesday afternoon and in the evening they will attend a demonstration of degree work by Meridian Lodge No. 480. The closing sessions of the meeting will be held in the Grand Lodge Hall Thursday morning and afternoon.

A feature of the meeting will be the semi-annual meeting and banquet of the District Deputies Association at the Y. W. C. A. Building at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. District deputy grand master, district deputy grand patriarchs and grand and past grand officers of the Grand Lodge and the Grand Encampment are eligible to attend the meeting and banquet. An address will be delivered by Charles J. Orison. H. A. Winterrowd is in charge of the arrangements for the banquet.

ties for governor and the legislature. Since they forced the issue, he said, he is content to fight it out.

Wets and drys are battling for control in the republican and democratic parties.

The selection of candidates friendly or opposed to the liquor interests overshadows all else. When the state prohibition amendment comes up this fall, the governor and legislators will decide its fate.

Little interest has been displayed in the presidential contest.

On the republican presidential preference ballot are the names of Henry Ford, Henry D. Eastbrook, Albert B. Cummins and Robert G. Ross.

Nebraska has two favorite sons as candidates for the vice-presidential nominations, former United States Senator Elmer J. Burkett, republican, and Governor John H. Moorehead, democrat. Both are expected to receive their party's endorsement in Nebraska.

On the republican ticket there are five candidates for the gubernatorial nomination: three drys: Judge A. L. Sutton of Omaha, William Madgett of Hastings and Samuel R. McKelvie, of Lincoln, and two wets: Walter George of Omaha, and C. J. Miles of Hastings.

For the nomination for United States senator, Senator Gilbert M. Hitecheek, of Omaha, and Ignatius J. Dunn of Omaha, are contesting for the democratic nomination. Former Governor Chester H. Aldrich, of Lincoln and Judge John L. Kennedy, of Omaha, are contesting for the republican nomination.

TRIED VARIOUS KIDNEY REMEDIES BUT ONLY ONE PROVED RELIABLE

It is with great pleasure that I write these lines of praise for your wonderful kidney and bladder remedy. I had kidney trouble so bad I became very much alarmed. I had tried various kidney remedies I heard of but without relief. I was about discouraged of ever being helped, when, one day I picked up a book containing testimonials of people who had been helped and cured of their kidney trouble by the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, so I decided to try it and I know I owe my present good health to the wonderful curative power of Swamp-Root. I sincerely hope my words will be the means of restoring many other sufferers of kidney and bladder troubles to good health.

Very truly yours,

B. J. FENSTERMAKER.

1491 Roycroft Ave., Lakewood, Ohio. Personally appeared before me this 18th day of October, 1915, B. J. Fenstermaker, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Investigation Made of Death of Henry Sidwell, Near Huron.

Henry Sidwell, 62 years old, was found dead in bed at his home near Huron Monday supposedly a suicide. Sidwell was a widower and lived on the second floor of his house, having leased his farm to Ernest Kersey, formerly of Indianapolis, who with his family, occupied the lower part of the house. Members of the Kersey family declare they heard a shot upstairs and immediately rushed to the home of a neighbor, who returned with them and made an investigation. Sidwell was found dead, with a

This season's wheat was the worst in 50 years; badly damaged by too much rain. Flour from such wheat is weak and won't rise properly. But we got the cream of what little high grade wheat was raised, by sending our own men out for it and paying premium prices to get it.

If you want to be sure of getting the best baking results now—if you want to make certain of getting flour made from high grade wheat, ask for Valier's Enterprise Flour. It may cost a few cents more, but it is guaranteed to make more baking per sack and better baking.

Does Newspaper Advertising Pay?

A large paint manufacturer asked this question of retailers throughout the country:

NO. 1 SAID:

We believe rightly conducted newspaper advertising to be one of the very best forms of advertising open to the retail dealer—perhaps to any dealer or manufacturer. We believe also that poorly conducted newspaper advertising means money nearly wasted.

"By rightly conducted we mean well written advertisements having the local flavor, written in view of local conditions and needs, well displayed, appearing but once or not to exceed twice in the same paper—that is, in one or two issues." (continued tomorrow)

JURY OF FARMERS CHOSEN TO TRY HARDY ROBINSON

Scott County Man Placed on Trial for Murder of Rival in Love—Judge Lewis for Defendant.

Judge John M. Lewis, of this city, is one of the attorneys for the defense in the case of the state of Indiana against Hardy Robinson, of Lexington, charged with the murder of his rival in love, Ancil Phillips, at the home of Miss Myrtle Huffman, near Lexington, on Sunday evening, March 26. Assisting Judge Lewis are Lawson Mace and S. B. Wells, of Scottsburg. The state is represented by Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Verbarg and Deputy Prosecutor George V. Cain of Scottsburg, and William Fitzgerald, of North Vernon. The jury was impaneled Monday after thirty-seven men were examined. The case is on trial before

Mrs. Laura Arnold, 724 W. Laurel St., Seymour, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble a whole summer and when Fall came on, I got so bad I could hardly keep going. My back was sore and weak and I had dreadful pains across my loins, which sapped my energy. I could hardly stand long enough to wash the dishes. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and I had inflammation of the bladder. I became nervous and irritable. I couldn't sleep well. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Meyer's Drug Store and they did me a lot of good, relieving all symptoms of kidney complaint."

Judge Robert C. Creigmile, of Osgood.

The trial opened at 1 o'clock and the examination of talesmen was taken up at once. Most of the twenty-five rejected talesmen were excused because they already had formed opinions which evidence would not change.

Questions relating to capital punishment were only asked one or two, this issue apparently being avoided by both sides. Since the killing Robinson has been kept in the Indiana Reformatory at Jeffersonville because of the feeling aroused in this county.

It is believed that the trial will be comparatively short. The court room was crowded.

SPECTACULAR FIGHT ON IN W. J. BRYAN'S HOME STATE

Brother of Former Secretary of State Seeks Gubernatorial Nomination on "Dry" Platform.

By United Press. Lincoln, Neb., April 18.—The most spectacular fight in the Nebraska primary today is that for the democratic nomination for governor. Mayor Charles W. Bryan of Lincoln, brother of William J. Bryan, is the "dry" candidate, while the "wets" have concentrated their vote on Keith Neville or North Platte, although W. F. Stoecker, of Omaha, also is in the race.

Former Secretary Bryan has been in the thick of the fight to rid the democratic party in Nebraska of what he designates its "brewery control." "I did not want this question to come up at this time when national issues are to engage our attention," said Mr. Bryan in his campaign.

"I preferred that it wait a year. But if a child is born at my house I take care of it. This question is here, and I intend to take care of it." The wets, having control of the democratic state committee, he said, declared it was best to let the issue rest, and then they quietly got busy and sought to nominate men so as to capture the nominations in both par-

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face." "But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though, of course, it is not to be classed with the real calomel of medicinal origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santanel' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santanel tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

The Constipation Curse

Constipation—clogged bowels cause pain and sickness; 95 per cent of our ills, say the authorities. Santanel Laxatives bring quick relief. All vegetable—contain no calomel. Ten doses for a dime at any druggist. Physician's sample free, upon request. If you mention this advertisement, The Santanel Remedies Co., Inc., 800 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

ONE HUNDRED LEADING HOOSIERS 1816-1916

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

OLIVER P. MORTON (1823-1877) It was during Oliver P. Morton's term as governor that he did his greatest service and won for himself a name as inseparably linked with Indiana history. Few men foresaw the magnitude of the great war that was coming, but Morton was prepared. When President Lincoln on April 15, 1865, called for 75,000 volunteers, Governor Morton at once offered the services of 10,000 men. Within a week more than three times the number of volunteers required to fill Indiana's quota offered themselves.

A special session of the legislature voted $2,000,000 to supply and equip Indiana's volunteers. As an executive, organizer and leader of forces, Morton had no peer in the union. In 1862 when the legislature hesitated to make additional appropriations, he secured large sums from the county boards and small banks and from the national government he secured more than $200,000. A bureau of finance was established and under the direction of General Terrell, this extra legal department of state government was conducted for two years. Governor Morton was universally endorsed for this move. In 1864 he was re-elected governor over Joseph E. McDonald by more than 20,000 majority. In 1867 he was elected to the United States senate.

HARTFORD CITY MAN ESCAPES THE KNIFE

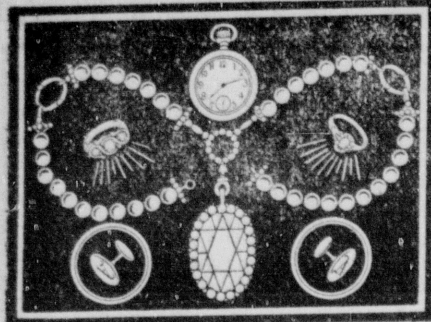

Charles Inman Able to Go to Work After Operation Was Avoided.

Charles Inman, 424 East Chestnut street, Hartford City, Ind., was desperately ill with stomach trouble. He was advised to go to Fort Wayne for an operation.

Then he took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and in a short time was able to go back to work. In a letter he said:

"My disease started seven years ago. I had to give up and go to bed. Four doctors said they could not cure me unless I went to Fort Wayne to be operated on, and that it would cost $150 or $200. My daughter saw your advertisement and I took your treatment. In three weeks I went to work and haven't missed but one-half day since from sickness. It surely saved my life." Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

A CONVENTION CITY.

The value of emphasizing Seymour as the Convention City of southern Indiana is too frequently underestimated. Each year a larger number of meetings attended by representatives and delegates from a large section of Indiana are brought here, but this is an asset which has large possibilities and which can be further developed without a large outlay of cash. Many large cities have come to the realization that such conventions are most valuable and are offering inducements for them.

It is conservatively estimated that each visitor in a city of this size will spend from $2 to $5 each day. Experts in municipal enterprises declare that the lowest amount is always exceeded and that the highest estimate is not unreasonable. When a large crowd of several thousand people visit the city at one time the commercial value is always noticeable. But what is true with a large crowd is equally true with a smaller one. Their expenditures are divided among the various stores and firms but each time a substantial amount is left here which insures to the benefit and prosperity of the general public.

Seymour is most favorably located as the logical Convention City for this part of the state. There has never been a concerted effort to bring such meetings here. A Convention committee might work in conjunction with the Commercial Club and by keeping in touch with the different meetings to be held could communicate with the arrangement committees and point out the advantages of selecting Seymour as the best place for the conferences. A number of small meetings would in the aggregate bring the smaller results as a single large convention.

Any movement that benefits the entire city is a benefit to the individual inhabitants. A prosperous city means a prosperous population and accordingly each resident is equally interested in any attempt that will bring larger financial returns to the community.

WAR'S "HORRIBLE EXAMPLES."

(Indianapolis Star)

Dr. Harvey Cushing, professor of surgery at Harvard University, who returned recently from the war zone, makes the suggestion that the sight of the wounded and maimed will have a very important bearing on war sentiment in the next generation. He estimates that no fewer than 6,000,000 men have been wounded in the present war; that a very large percentage of them will be crippled for life. The percentage of the blinded and disfigured is much greater than usual because of the kind of warfare that is being fought.

A surprisingly large number of the wounds inflicted are those of the head. Wounds in the chest and abdomen are comparatively few. The number of amputations, also, is not so large as experience in other wars might have led the world to expect. The extensive use of shrapnel and the fighting in trenches have resulted in an unexpectedly large percentage of men who have had their faces terribly disfigured. They will be living examples of the frightfulness of modern warfare.

It is reasonable to believe that the sight of the maimed and disfigured will have a very sobering effect on the belligerently inclined who may be found in Europe in the next half a century. War will mean more to them than it did to the Europeans of a couple of years ago. The millions who have fallen may be forgotten in a few years, but the maimed survivors will be an everpresent reminder of what it means for nations to settle their differences by armed conflict.

house. Mrs. May Thackery, eighty-five, mother of Mrs. Brown, was in an adjoining room during the night and discovered the flames. She gave the alarm by ringing the dinner bell. Mrs. Thackery is deaf and says she heard no disturbance during the night. She was not aware of the death of her daughter until after flames were extinguished.

Bob Owens was here this morning with his bloodhounds, having just arrived from the scene of the murder. According to Owens, Lynn Yeager, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, was arrested last evening after the dogs had followed the trail to his home. Four different times the dogs were taken back to the Brown home and each time they followed the trail directly to Yeager's house, about two miles distant. It was reported that Yeager had been suspicious, and when the dogs took up the trail and went directly to his house, he became nervous and tried to laugh it off. He asked to be allowed to follow the dogs, according to Owens' story, and was allowed to do so. After the dogs had made the fourth trip to his place he was arrested and placed in jail.

It is said that Mr. Brown's sister met a similar fate about six years ago, and it is believed that Yeager may have had something to do with that crime also. Owens said that talk was strong against Yeager last night and that he was removed to Lawrenceburg for safe keeping.

The robbery theory was disproved. Owens said, by the fact that no money was taken and evidently no effort had been made to take any. Yeager's wife and another daughter were the only heirs of the Browns, and each has a considerable sum coming to them through their death. This fact, according to Owens, establishes Yeager's motive for the crime. The Bedford detective is positive he has the right man.

Six years ago Mrs. Sutton, a sister of Brown, was robbed and murdered in the same neighborhood. Her house was set on fire and the body was burned beyond recognition. All efforts to apprehend the slayers were unavailing.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Cannot Be Prevented But Companies Are Now Insuring These Risks.

Seymour, Ind., April 17.—The Federal Underwriters are writing all lines of auto insurance now at their office in the Seymour National Bank Bldg. They claim the rates are very reasonable for coverage against fire, theft, property damage, collision, public liability and loss of use. They represent such companies as the Home, the Fidelity and Deposit, and equally good reliable "old line companies."

If you own other property and insure it, why not insure your auto?

Auto accidents happen every day regardless of how careful one may be and this of course causes the big demand for these coverages.

CAPT. VON PAPEN INDICTED BY U. S.

Charged With Conspiracy By Federal Grand Jury.

WELLAND CANAL IS NAMED

Five Conspirators Indicted, the Identity of the Fifth One Remaining a Secret—Dynamite Taken to Niagara Falls Where Plan Was Abandoned.

New York, April 18.—Captain Hans Taucher, husband of Mme. Galski, the grand opera singer; Captain Franz von Papen, the recalled German military attaché at Washington and three other men were indicted by the federal grand jury for alleged part in the conspiracy to blow up the Welland canal in Canada.

A. A. Fritzen was one of the five indicted, and a man named Kovanni was another. The name of the fifth man is at present being withheld.

Von Papen is in Germany and beyond the jurisdiction of the United States. Taucher will be arrested at his New York home. The whereabouts of Fritzen is unknown.

This is the first time that von Papen has been named in any formal charge in any of the federal or state investigations of alleged plots framed by Teutonic agents, though his name and that of Captain Roy-Ed, late German naval attaché, have been mentioned frequently.

The five alleged conspirators are charged with having set on foot in the United States an enterprise injurious to a foreign country at peace with the United States in plotting to destroy the canal.

The indictment of von Papen came as a surprise. It was understood that his former position of military attaché of the German embassy made him immune to prosecution.

"He could not have been indicted while he was serving in that position," Assistant United States Attorney Wood said, "but his indictment is valid now since he has ceased to be an official in the diplomatic service."

Fritzen is charged with having carried dynamite in a suit case across the border from Buffalo to Canada in furtherance of the plot against the canal. Gonzales or Kovanni, is described by Mr. Wood as "von Der Goltz's most intimate friend and associate in the plots against British property and United States' neutrality."

Mr. Wood emphatically refused to give even a hint as to the identity of the fifth person indicted. Rumors as to who this person is were flying thick about the federal building, but there was no basis for the use of the various names put forth.

TWELVE CARS DROP THROUGH

Freight Train Is Wrecked at Big Creek Bridge, Near Deputy, Ind.

Madison, Ind., April 18.—Part of the second section of freight train No. 95, south bound on the Big Four, from North Vernon to Louisville, went through Big Creek bridge, a mile north of Deputy.

The north part of the bridge and part of the abutment gave way after the locomotive, No. 6822, in charge of Engineer Hogady, and eight cars had passed over it safely. The next twelve cars went into the creek, leaving fourteen cars on the rails north of the bank.

The train was made up entirely of empty cars, and Conductor Crook was in charge.

Defectives Increasing, Says Judge.

South Bend, Ind., April 18.—"There are 1,000,000 mental defectives in the United States, and the number is increasing much more rapidly than the population," said Willis C. McMahan, judge of the Lake county circuit court, at the opening session of the St. Joseph county social welfare conference here.

VILLA'S DEATH NOT CONFIRMED

Bandit Indicted by Grand Jury In New Mexico,

TROOPS FIGHTING OUTLAWS

Reports From General Pershing of Several Small Skirmishes South of Satevo Confirms Stories of Existence of Many Bandit Bands.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—Up to date the body of Pancho Villa had not arrived at Cusihuiriachic.

This information came to General Gabriel Gaviro in Juarez after a telegraph conversation with the operator at Cusi. Nor had General Gaviro been able to secure any information upon the discovery of Villa's body other than what had already developed.

Both General Gaviro and Colonel Carranza were said to be in charge of the expedition conveying the body to Cusihuiriachic, and as the journey is a long and rough one from Francisco De Borja, General Gaviro said it would probably be some hours before anything authentic came from General Carranza.

Both General Gaviro and Consul Garcia continued to express belief in the recovery of the body.

Villa, the one time czar of more than half of Mexico, will be buried in potter's field in Juarez—if he is dead—and if his body has been recovered, and if he is brought to Juarez.

General Gaviro announced that as soon as he learned that the body had reached Cusi, he would request that it be sent to Juarez for identification by the Americans on the border, who knew the bandit in the days of his power in Mexico. He declared that no military funeral would be given the bandit, but that he would be buried as he deserved—in the section of Juarez cemetery where victims of the executioners' squad are laid away.

If the body is brought either to Chihuahua City or to Juarez there will be no trouble among Americans in making identification. General Bell, commanding the American border patrol forces, declared that he could identify the body. George Carothers, agent of the state department, is another man who could make the identification.

Taking a chance that the body has been recovered and that it is being taken to Chihuahua City, a number of newspaper correspondents and moving picture men secured a special train and went down from Juarez to Chihuahua. A message sent to Consul Marion Letcher at Chihuahua, asking if it was true that Villa's body had been found, brought back this answer: "Nothing heard of matter here."

The grand jury of Luna county, N. M., indicted Villa on a charge of murder in connection with his raid on Columbus on March 9. One of his followers, captured in Mexico by the American expeditionary column after the raid, is now in jail in Deming, and will be tried on similar charges at the present term of court.

Further fighting with bandits near Parral, and a telegram from Douglas, Ariz., stating that General Gomez, commanding the Carranza forces in Sonora, had left for the purpose of taking his command through Pupila pass into the state of Chihuahua, caused more discussion along the border than the reported discovery of Villa's body. For some days troops along the border have been held in readiness to reinforce the line of communication behind General Pershing in the event of the Carranza troops moving into Chihuahua from Sonora, and the news that the movement was about to be started, did not cause any relaxation in the preparedness plans of the American troops.

Reports from General Pershing of several small skirmishes by his troops south of Satevo and in the vicinity of Parral, confirmed stories brought here by Americans of the existence of many bands of bandits in that region.

Misses Nellie Prescott and May Dunning, two mission school teachers who fled from Parral after the fight there between American soldiers and Mexican soldiers and civilians, declared that all the native farmers and ranchers for miles around Parral were coming into the town for protection when they left and that all of them reported bandit bands numerous.

KILLS TWO MEN WITH PALING

Prisoner at Middletown, O., Said to Have Confessed Crime.

Middletown, O., April 18.—David Brooks, age forty-five, and James Nichols, age thirty-five, both prominent in this city, were murdered near the Big Four depot here. Earl Jennings, age twenty, is held by the police on a charge of first degree murder. According to the police he has confessed the killing. Olive Grabenstein, age nineteen, is held as an accessory.

Jennings is said to have told the police that he obtained a picket from a fence after he had had some words with Nichols and followed him to the depot where he struck him, breaking his neck. After striking Nichols, Jennings declared he ran and encountered Brooks. He struck Brooks with the picket, breaking his skull.

WILSON'S LAST NOTE TO GERMANY IS READY

Will Force an Accounting on Submarine Issue.

Washington, April 18.—President Wilson's note to Germany on the submarine issue will probably be cabled to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin immediately. The president has written the communication, availing himself of the data submitted to him by Secretary of States Lansing.

Ambassador Gerard will be directed to arrange with the German foreign office for its simultaneous publication here and in Germany. It is understood that Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate, and Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee, have been advised of the nature of the communication and that they agree that the time has come to force an accounting with Germany on the submarine issue.

Emphatic denial was made at the White House of reports that Ambassador Gerard's latest reports have caused the president to delay action. Neither German counter proposals nor offer to compromise have deterred him to change the note.

SIX KILLED; FIFTY INJURED

Gift Edge Express Crashes Into Freight Train Taking Sliding.

Bradford, R. I., April 18.—The Gift Edge express, a fast all-steel through passenger train from Boston on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, tore a shattering path through the rear cars of a local train that was taking a siding at the Bradford station to give the express the right of way. In the grinding crash and a fire that quickly enveloped the two rear coaches of the local and spread to the freight and passenger station nearby, at least six persons were killed and nearly fifty injured.

The victims were imprisoned in a jumbled mass of twisted steel and splintered railroad stock, all aflame, so that rescue work for a time was impossible.

All the dead, with the exception of the engineer of the express, and most of the injured were passengers on the local. The bodies which were recovered from the wreckage, were charred almost beyond identification.

TWO TOTS DIE OF POISONING

Physicians and Coroner Baffled by Deaths of Small Children.

Indianapolis, April 18.—Herbert Myers, four years old, and his brother Roy, three years old, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Myers, 1529 East Market street, died from poisoning within ten minutes of each other.

Physicians who were called said the symptoms indicated that the boys' deaths had resulted from a large quantity of strychnine, and members of the family are inclined to believe that the poison was contained in candy Easter eggs both had eaten fifteen minutes before they died.

Coroner Poole also said he believed the boys died from strychnine poisoning.

Bandits Obtain $1,800 Loot.

Richmond, Cal., April 18.—Three masked bandits entered the barns of the San Francisco-Oakland railways terminal here and after binding and gagging the day dispatcher, looted the safe. They obtained $1,800 and escaped in an automobile.

PAVE WAY FOR NEW MOVEMENT

Germans Bombard Dead Man's Hill With Big Guns.

FRENCH STORE UP RESERVE

Crown Prince Is Utilizing Lull In Battle to Strengthen His Forces—General Pelain Is Said to Be Preparing For Big Offensive.

London, April 18.—The "calm before the storm," which has marked the Verdun front for several days, except for a number of vain counter attacks by the French, continued. A new drive by the crown prince right wing on the western bank of the Meuse is foreshadowed by intense "drum fire" against the French positions in the Avocourt wood and between Dead Man's hill and Cumieres, as reported by the French war office. It is here that the Germans are expected to launch the next great drive, their objective being hill 304, considered the key to the Verdun-Paris railroad.

Berlin, in its official statement, disposes of the operations on the western front by saying "there are no incidents to report." The general feeling, both in the French and German capitals, is that the hour is ripe for a new attack by the Teutons, who have enjoyed comparative rest for almost a week.

German military critics point triumphantly to the fact that all the French counter attacks, furious and determined as they were, have broken down under the German fire, and that the crown prince's new front is firmly held, the intervening lull being utilized by fortifying it and consolidating the new lines of communication.

In Germany, the failure of the French counter attacks is taken as a clear indication that the "driving power" of Verdun's defenders has been so seriously impaired as to make it impossible for them to wrest any of the lost positions from the Germans. The Paris reports that the new French lines are really much stronger than those lost to the crown prince are ridiculed, experts pointing to the counter attacks as proving that the former lines must have been valuable enough to risk terrific losses. French observers, on the other hand, insist that General Pelain has "not begun yet," and is storing up his reserves in men and ammunition for a counter offensive that will roll back the German hosts, once it is set in motion.

TO PROBE CONVICT'S STORY

Claimed to Have Assisted In Burying Dorothy Arnold.

New York, April 18.—Police Inspector Joseph Faurot, in charge of the detective bureau of the police department, sent a telegram to the chief of police of Providence, asking for information regarding the alleged confession of Edward C. Glennorris, a convict in the Rhode Island state prison, who was reported from Providence as having confessed that he assisted in burying a girl he thought was Dorothy Arnold; the New York heiress who disappeared in December, 1910. The police seemed inclined to doubt the story and suspended action on it until they might learn more about it direct from Providence.

The Arnold family and their attorney, John S. Keith, discounted the story altogether.

FARMER MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT

Found In His Room With a Bullet Hole In His Head.

Bedford, Ind., April 18.—Henry Sidwell, age forty-five, a bachelor farmer, was found dead in his room near Huron with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver lying on the floor.

Sidwell lived in a room of his home which was occupied by Ernest Kersy, who had rented the farm and moved his family here. Members of the family say they heard a shot early in the day and on going to the room found Sidwell dead.

Indicted For Piracy.

Wilmington, Del., April 18.—Ernest Schiller, the mysterious man from Germany, who, single handed, held up the British steamship Matoppo on the night of March 29 and brought her all-attendant into Lewes with her crew in a blue funk, was indicted for piracy by the federal grand jury.

Will Issue $30,000 In Bonds.

Indianapolis, April 18.—The public service commission of Indiana has issued an order, authorizing the Public Service company of Indiana, of Rochester, to issue $30,000 in bonds to pay for improvements and betterments. The bonds are to be sold at not less than 90 per cent of par.

SENATE DEBATES ARMY BILL

House Passes Bill Doubling Cadet Corps at West Point.

Washington, April 18.—The senate entered on the closing hours of debate on the army reorganization bill which probably will be passed. A meeting of the judiciary committee was held to consider the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to be a justice of the supreme court. Action was deferred until later in the week. The agriculture committee requested the federal trade commission to supervise the distribution of sisal held in Yucatan, Mexico.

The day in the house was taken up with consideration of bills on the unanimous consent calendar. A bill was passed doubling the size of the cadet corps at the West Point military academy; also a bill segregating volcanic island in Hawaii and converting them into a national park.

SMALL BOY DROPS CARTRIDGE

Connersville, Ind., April 18.—Penn Holter, the fourteen-year-old son of Frank Holter, dropped a cartridge on the sidewalk, near his home on Grand avenue, which exploded, the bullet striking him in the left eye. He was taken to a hospital in Cincinnati and the eye was removed. The boy's life will be saved.

When the bullet struck the side of the eye the ball was thrust nearly out of the socket. The holter lad was accompanied to Cincinnati by a doctor whose son had been his playmate at the time of the accident.

$100,000 Fire In Augusta, Ga.

Augusta, Ga., April 18.—Fire in the retail district did damage estimated at $100,000. For a time it seemed that Augusta was doomed to another conflagration, but the firemen succeeded in confining the flames to the Harrison building.

ROBBERS MURDER WOMAN

Husband Fatally Beaten—Checks For $3,000 Are Missing.

Greensburg, Ind., April 18.—Mrs. Zell Brown, sixty-five, was beaten to death and her husband was wounded, probably fatally, by robbers who broke into the Brown farmhouse near Napoleon in Ripley county.

After committing the crime the robbers set fire to the house. Neighbors were awakened by the fire and rescued Brown and his wife's body. Brown is unconscious and is unable to tell anything of the attack. It is thought he will die in a few hours.

The Browns sold their farm last week and had two checks, one of $2,300 and one of $1,000, in the house. Both are missing. They were preparing to move to Batesville this week. There is no clue to the identity of the robbers.

AUTO UPSETS, KILLING WOMAN

Overturns on Hill When Drive Chain Is Broken.

Lafayette, Ind., April 18.—Mrs. Laura Neal, age forty-five, was pinned beneath an automobile and crushed to death on a country road near Johnsonville, in Warren county.

Her husband, Jesse Neal, was driving up a steep hill, when the drive-chain broke, and the car backed down the hill and overturned. Both were pinned beneath the machine but Mr. Neal managed to extricate himself. He found his wife held fast with the weight of the machine upon her. Mr. Neal was unable to lift the automobile and summoned help. In about twenty minutes the car had been lifted but Mrs. Neal lived only a few minutes after being extricated.

COURT TO REVIEW RATE CASE

Long and Short Haul Rates Across the Continent Held Up.

Washington, April 18.—Justice McKenna, of the supreme court of the United States, on the application of the department of justice, stayed the effect of the northern California federal district court's decision annulling long and short haul rates across the continent.

The lower court annulled the interstate commerce commission's orders putting the rates into effect on the ground that the commission had exceeded its jurisdiction in approving them. Justice McKenna's action keeps the rates in effect until the supreme court reviews the district court's decision.

Would Enlarge Commission.

Washington, April 18.—The Adamson bill to enlarge the interstate commerce commission to nine commissioners, with authority to subdivide the commission into three or more parts for distribution of its work, was passed by the house and went to the senate. The bill was urged by President Wilson on account of the increased business of the commission.

CHAPTER III.

Joy in an Old Orchard.

The following morning was a balmy and exquisite first of May and Bert hustled me off immediately after breakfast to meet Hard Cider Howard, whom, by some rural wireless, he had already summoned.

As we walked down the road, I glanced toward my lone pine, and saw my horse and Mike's hitched to the plow, with Joe driving and Mike holding the handles. Across the green pasture, between the road and the hayfield, already four rich brown furrows were shining up to the sun.

At the house we found awaiting a strange-looking man, small, wrinkled, unkempt, with a discouraged mustache and a nose of a decidedly brighter hue than the rest of his countenance. He was tapping at the sills of the house.

"Well Yer Want Me to Do the Job, Don't Yer?"

"How about it, Hard? Cement?" said Bert.

Hard Cider nodded to me, with a keen glance from his little, bloodshot eyes.

"Yep," he said. "Stucco over it. Brick underpinning's be ez good ez noo. Go inside."

We stepped upon the side porch. Bert handing me the key and I opening the door of my new dwelling with a secret thrill. Hard Cider at once began on the kitchen floor, ripping up a plank to examine the timbers beneath.

We crossed the hall to the south side, where there were two corresponding rooms. Here, as on the other side, the chimney and fireplaces were on the inside walls, and the mantels were of a simple but very good colonial pattern, though they had been browned by smoke and time to a dirt color.

"Now I want these two rooms made into one," said I. "I want one of the doors into the hall closed up, and a glass door cut out of the south side to a pergola veranda. Can you do it?"

Hard examined the partition. He climbed on a box which we dragged in, and ripped away plaster and woodwork ruthlessly, both at the top and at places on the sides, all without speaking a word.

"Yep," he said finally, "et yer don't mind a big cross-beam showin'. She's solid oak. Yer door, though, 'll have to be double, with a beam in the middle."

"Fine!" I cried. "One to go in by, one to go out. Guests please keep to the right!"

"Hev ter alter yer chimney," he added, "or yer'll hev two fireplaces."

"Fine again!" cried I. "A long room with two fireplaces, and a double-faced bookcase coming out at right angles between them, with two settles below it, one for each fireplace! Better than I'd dreamed!"

"Suit yerself," said Hard.

My front doorway had once been a thing of beauty, with two little panel windows at the sides, and above all, on the outside, a heavy, hand-carved broken pediment, like the top of a Governor Winthrop highboy. Hard looked at it with admiration gleaming in his eyes. "I'd ruther restore this than all the rest o' the job," he said, and his ugly, rum-soaked little face positively shone with enthusiasm.

"Go ahead," said I; "only I want the new steps of brick, widely spaced, with a lot of cement showing between. I'm going to terrace it here in front, too—a grass terrace for ten feet out."

"That's right, that's right!" he exclaimed. "Now I'll go order the lumber an' bring yer the estimate tomorrow."

"Seems to me the usual proceeding would be the other way around!" I gasped.

"Well, yer want me ter do the job, don't yer? Or don't yer?" he said brusquely.

"Of course, of course!" I amended hastily. "Go ahead!"

Hard climbed into a broken-down wagon, and disappeared. "Don't you worry," said Bert. "I'll see he treats yer right."

"It isn't that," I said sadly. "It's that I've just remembered I forgot to include any painters' bills in my own estimate."

Bert looked at me in a kind of speechless pity for a moment. Then he said slowly: "Wal, I'll be swizzled! Wait till I tell maw! An' her always stickin' up fer a college education!"

"Just for that, I'll show you!" cried I. "I never trimmed an apple tree in my life, but I'm going to work on this orchard, and I'm going to save it, all myself. It will be better than yours in three years."

"Go to it," laughed Bert. "Come back fer dinner, though. Neow I'll drive over ter the depot an' git yer freight. They telephoned this mornin' it had come."

"Good!" I cried. "You might bring me a bag of cement, too, and a gallon of carbolic acid."

"Ye ain't tired o' life so soon, be yer?"

"No," said I, "but I'm going to show you rubes how to treat an orchard."

Bert went off laughing, and presently I saw him driving toward town with his heavy wagon. I walked up to the plateau field to greet Mike. As I crested the ridge, the field lay before me, the great, lone pine standing sentinel at the farther side, and half of it was frail, young green, and half rich, shining brown.

"She plows tough, sor," said Mike, as the panting horses paused for breath, "but she'll harrow down good. Be the seed pertaters come yit?"

"Bert has gone for them," said I. "Let me hold the plow once."

"It ain't so azy as it looks," said Mike.

"I'll do it if I haven't a rib left," said I grimly.

And I did it. My first full furrow looked like the track of a snake under the influence of liquor, but I reversed the plow and came back fairly straight. I was beginning to get the hang of it. My next furrow was respectable, but not deep. On this return trip the sweat was starting from my forehead, and the smell of the horses and of the warm, fresh-turned earth was strong in my nostrils. I didn't look at my pine. I was proud at what I had done, and my muscles gloried in the toil. Again I swung the plow around, and drove it across the field, feeling the reluctant grass roots fighting every muscle of my arms.

"There," said I, triumphantly, "you plow all the rest as deep as that!"

"Begobs, ye'z all right!" cried Mike.

I went back again down the slope with all the joy of a small boy and descended upon the orchard. I had a couple of bulletins on pruning in my pocket, with pictures of old trees remorselessly headed down. I took a fresh look at the pictures, reread some of the text where I had marked it, and tackled the first tree, carefully repeating to myself: "Remove only a third the first year, remove only a third the first year."

This, I decided, quite naturally did not refer to dead wood. By the time I had the dead wood cut out of that first old tree, and all the water sprouts removed (as I recalled my grandfather used to call them, which didn't seem necessary for new bearing wood, the poor thing began to look naked. On one side an old water spout or sucker had achieved the dignity of a limb and shot far into the air. I was up in the tree carefully heading this back and out when Bert came driving by with his wagon heaped to overflowing.

"Hi!" he called, "yer tryin' to kill them trees entire!"

I got down and came out to the road. "You're a fine man and a true friend. Mr. Temple," said I, "but I'm going to be the doctor for this orchard. A chap's got to have some say for himself, you know."

"Well, they ain't much good, anyhow, them trees," said Bert cheerfully.

We now fell to unloading the wagon. We opened up the woodsheds and storehouse behind the kitchen, stowed in the barrels of seed potatoes, the fertilizers, the various other seeds, the farm implements, sprayers, and so on. The hotbed frames and sashes were put away for future use, as it was too late to need them now. The horse hoe Bert had not been able to bring on this trip. Next we got my books and furniture into the house or shed, and, tired, hot and dirty, we drove on up the road for dinner. As we passed the upper field, I saw that the plowing was nearly done. The brown furrows had already lost their gloss, as my hands had already lost their whiteness.

"Well, I'm a farmer now," said I, surveying my soil-caked boots and grimy clothes.

"Yer on the way, anyhow," said Bert. "But yer'll have ter cultivate that field hard, seein' how it oughter hev been plowed last fall."

That afternoon I went back to my orchard, got out my shiny and sharp new doubled-edged pruning saw, and sawed till both arms ached.

As I worked, I thought how this orchard must be trimmed and cleaned up first, but how the fine planting weather was upon us, too, and I ought to be getting my garden seeds in, if I was to have any flowers. I thought, also, of all my manuscripts to be read. A nervous fit seized me, and I worked frantically.

That night I managed to keep awake till eleven, and got some work done. I also rose at a compromise hour of six in the morning, and worked another hour, almost catching up with what should have been my daily stint. But I realized that hereafter I could not work on the farm all day. I must give up my mornings to my manuscript reading.

"Well," thought I, "I'll do it—as soon as the orchard is finished."

As soon as the orchard was finished! I stood amid the litter I had made on the ground, and reflected. I had completed the preliminary trimming of one row and part of a second. There were still over two rows and a half to do. And the worst trees were in those rows, at that. After they were trimmed, there was all the litter to clear out, and the stubs to be painted, and cement work to be done.

"Good gracious!" thought I, "if I do all that, when will I plant, when will I make my lawn?"

Were you ever lost in the woods, so that you suddenly felt a mad desire to rush blindly in every direction, helpless, bewildered, with a horrid sensation that your heart has gone down somewhere into your abdomen? That is the way I suddenly felt toward my farm. I couldn't afford to employ more labor. Besides, I didn't want to. I wanted to do the work myself. But there was so much to do!

Have you ever watched a small boy picking berries? He never picks a bush clean, but rushes after this or that big cluster of fruit which strikes the eye, covering half an acre of ground while you, perhaps, are stripping a single clump of bushes. And he is usually amazed when your pail fills quicker than his. Alas! I fear I was much like that small boy during my first season on the farm, or at any rate during the first month or two. There was little "efficiency" in my methods—but, oh, much delight!

As I had planned to put my garden coldframes along the south wall of the kitchen, I decided to make my temporary seedbeds there. Mike assented to the plan as a good one, and I had him dump me a load of manure, while I brought earth from the nearest point in the garden, spaded up the soil, mixed in the garden earth and dressing, and then worked and reworked it with a rake, and finally with my hands.

Ah, the joy of working earth with your naked hands, making it ready for planting! The ladies I had seen in their gardens always wore gloves. Even my mother, I recalled, in her little garden, had always worn gloves. Surely, thought I, they miss something—the cool, moist feel of the loam, the very sensations of the seeds themselves. At four o'clock I had my bed ready, and I got my seed packets, sorted them in a tin tobacco box, and began to sow the seeds. The directions which I read with scrupulous care always said, "Press the earth down firmly with a board." I was working with a flat mason's trowel, so I got up and found a board. It wasn't half so easy to work with, but I was taking no chances!

Mike and Joe were unhitching the horse from the harrow as I finished. The great, brown slope of the vegetable garden, lying away from the house toward the ring of southern hills, was ready for planting. There was my farm, thence would come my profits—if profits there should be. But just at that moment the little strip of soaked seedbed behind me was more important. It stood for the color box with which I was going to paint, for the fragrant pigments out of which I should create about my dwelling a dream of gardens.

"After all," I thought, "a country place is but half realized without its garden, even though it be primarily a farm, and the richness of country living is but half fulfilled unless we become painters with shrub and tree and flower. I cannot draw, nor sing, nor play. Perhaps I cannot even write. But surely I can express myself here, about me, in color and landscape charm, and not be any the worse farmer for that. I have my work; I shall write; I shall be a farmer; I shall be a gardener—an artist in flowers; I shall make my house lovely within; I shall live a rich, full life. Surely I am a happy, a fortunate man!"

I put the watering pot back in the shed, crossed the road to the old wooden pump by the barn on a sudden impulse, and pumped water on my hands and head, for I was hot. Mike stood in the barn door and laughed.

"What are yez doin' that for?" he asked.

I stood up and shook the water from my face and hair. "Just to be a kid, I guess," I laughed.

There are some things Mike couldn't understand. Perhaps I did not clearly understand myself. In some dim way an old pump before a barn and the shock of water from its spout on my head was fraught with happy memories and with dreams. The sight of the pump at that moment had waked the echo of their mood.

But as I plodded up the road in the May twilight to supper, one of those memories came back with haunting clearness—a summer day, a long tramp, the tender wistfulness of young love shy at its own too sudden passion, the plunge of cool water from a pump, and then at twilight half-spoken words, and words unspoken, sweeter still!

The amethyst glow went off the hills that ring our valley, and a far blue peak faded into the gathering dusk. A light shivered off my spirit, too. I felt suddenly cold, and the cheery face of Mrs. Temple was the face of a stranger. I felt unutterably lonely and depressed. My farm was dust and ashes. That evening I savagely turned down a manuscript by a rather well-known author, and went to bed without confessing what was the matter with me. The matter was, I had pumped up a ghost.

OWNERSHIP OF PRIZE SHIP APPAM BEFORE U. S. COURT

Germany Claims This Government Should Surrender Vessel as Prize of War.

By United Press.

Norfolk, Va., April 18.—One phase of the European war will come up for settlement by the Judge of a United States court here today when representatives of England and Germany appear before Judge Waddill to claim ownership of the prize ship Appam, the British steamer captured on the high seas by the phantom German raider Moewe and brought to Hampton Roads port a captive by German naval men.

Germany claims the United States government should surrender the Appam to Germany on the ground that the steamer was captured as a prize of war and was compelled to put in at the neutral port of Hampton Roads because she was in an unseaworthy condition.

Lieutenant Berg, commander of the prize crew of the Appam, contends that making this port under these conditions leaves the vessel and cargo legally a German prize, entitled to be taken back to Germany and kept as German property.

Berg cites a treaty of 1828 between the United States and Germany, to uphold this theory.

The English representatives claim that when the Appam touched Hampton Roads port the question of her legal possession automatically came under the jurisdiction of the neutral government; and that, because she was originally owned by British subjects, she should be turned over to the British owners by the neutral government.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ABSOLUTE CONSCRIPTION IS URGED IN ENGLAND

"Ginger Group" Wants Measure to Embrace all Men of 45 Years and Under.

By United Press.

London, April 18.—All-round conscription is being more and more strongly urged in England.

It is only partial as yet. Unmarried men up to the age of 41 have been called to the colors, but with numerous exceptions. The call for married men has applied only to those who have declared their willingness to serve.

RELIEF FOR COLONICS URGENTLY DEMANDED

But what's a colonic? Anybody's liable to be one. A colonic's disposition is liable to be as sour as his stomach.

He's a melancholy individual and suffers from headaches and a poor appetite—in fact is out of sorts all over. His entire trouble is due to the absorption of poisons from fermenting food substances which have remained too long in the intestinal canal.

The simple and universally recognized treatment for such a condition is castor oil which can now be taken without suffering from the nasty taste and smell.

Castor oil is the only medicine that heals the bowel membranes, and it doesn't form a habit.

Covington's CASTOR-JELL is 94 per cent pure, old reliable castor oil, with a delicious orange flavor added. It's the laxative found in the home medicine chests of physicians. On sale at H. H. Carter Drug Co. The Castor Products Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Robert Fields, formerly of Medora, returned to his home today where he loaded his household goods to bring them to this city for future residence.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Oriana Stevens, widow of the late James Stevens, was held Monday at the home of Miss Mary D. Stevens, 2019 Burnett Ave., Louisville. The deceased was eighty-six years old and was well known in this city. The burial took place at Cave Hill Cemetery in Louisville.

The George McLaughlin Cigar store is undergoing several changes the fixtures are being painted and the proprietor is installing a new soda fountain. It is not certain whether the fountain will be placed in position today or in the later part of the week. Attractive booths have been built in the rear of the store.

C. D. Billings and R. J. Barbour went to New Albany this afternoon to attend the meeting of the New Albany Presbytery. They will present to the Presbytery the call which the local Presbyterian church has extended to James H. More, who will be ordained into the ministry this month in the Presbytery of Chicago.

The B. & O. Branch and Big Four trains are still detoured through the city today and the probabilities are that they will continue to do so for the next few days. It is reported that there are nearly 200 feet of track out on the branch from Louisville to North Vernon. The Pennsylvania Lines have made arrangements to take care of the detour traffic for the next week.

The seniors are preparing to put out the annual student publication and in order that they may send the material to the engraver in time they are using this week in having the photographs of the fourth year students made. The annual this year is coming along exceptionally well and it is thought that it will be one of the best publications of its kind that will be issued in the state.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all the neighbors and friends whose kindness was shown in the recent illness and death of our wife and mother. Especially do we appreciate the kindness of Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Dobbins, Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Schleter. Also the consoling words of Rev. Pierson and the singers. We also thank the friends for their beautiful floral piece and for the kindness of the members of the Woodstock Baptist church.

do not quite average this now as only a limited force is employed—about fifteen men—but others will be added as the contract progresses. This amount does not include the work to be done for the sub-contractors and it is conservatively estimated that the total wages during the summer will amount to about $450 to $500 each week.

The present equipment will be retained here until the entire contract is finished. The concrete mixing machine will be used in the entire work, it is stated.
